

All That Dance March Newsletter 2023

March Dance Focus is Strength!

What does Strength look like at All That Dance?

- Dancers need to possess different types of strength to perform slow and controlled movements and also for powerful movements and tricks.
- There are many dance tricks and techniques that require dancers to use their strength and muscle ability.
- We will be testing our dancers to see how strong they are and will encourage them to keep working to build up their muscles.
- More strength = higher leaps, more endurance, stronger arms, stronger ankles and overall a powerful & strong dancer!

Studio Highlights

This year's recital theme is "Dance like a Champion Today." We will have tons of songs about team spirit, sports, & having a good time. For those that are familiar with college football, you will understand the reference.

Don't have your recital costume yet? Contact the front office so we can make sure your costume has been ordered. We have had multiple late costume orders and size exchanges. Help us make sure your costume is on its way.

Picture Day schedule will be done by the end of this week. Stay tuned for all the details and information about picture day. Thank you for your patience!

We are still enrolling new students for classes that have openings. Any new student that wants to do the recital will owe the full costume fee plus $10 for a late costume order. See the front desk for any questions about costumes or payment.

Summer Camps & Dance Schedule will be available after spring break.

Don't forget to sign up for our Mother & Dancer Dance. See all the information on our posters at the studio and on the website. Sign up deadline is March 25th.

Please clean up after yourself & make sure your dancer's are being safe while they are at the studio.

Recital Show Assignments

Recital show assignments are ready! We are having 5 shows this year (3 shows on Saturday June 3rd & 2 shows on Sunday June 4th). Refer to the show assignment google sheet to see which show(s) your dancer will be in. This google sheet link will also be emailed to you and will be available on the website. The show assignments are subject to change up until April 1st. There may be some adjustments made depending on how many recital participants there are in each show.
